

She accompagnies persons at the end of their lives ...

« The work I do in medicine requires a certain steadiness of heart, mind and soul. And, the patients I serve, deserve a practitioner who is present, respectful and non-judgemental.

My patients are at the end of their lives, by disease, illness and ageing. And, yes, the work can be very heavy and dark at times.

My introduction to and involvement with Freemasonry has helped me to become a better health care provider.

I can leave my professional armor at the door and take rest and refreshment in the Lodge, in the Ritual and with my Sisters.

Participation in the Ritual provides me with a felt sense of participation in the Sacred, the Universal, the Transcendent. And that Participation allows me to overlook the everyday obstacles, and recognize that the Light that shines on us all, Illuminates what is holding us together, the Chain of Union, the Cord of Love. »
